Clicker Gets a Fortune.

Chicago, April 29.-A pleasant journey through Europe has supplanted the clicking typewriter keys in the dreams of Miss Anita B. Moran, who was a strenographer yesterday in the office of a paint factory and who is today heiress to a fortune of $100,000.

And the peculiar thing of it all is that the money was willed to her by J. W. Britton, a great uncle whom she had never seen and of whom she had heard little. ton died recently in Toledo, Ohio,

With her widowed mother, Miss Moran is now searching time tables and making other inquiries incident to a trip to Leipsie, where she will secretly conspiring to resume her musical studies. Before Oregon's eight votes in the returning to America she intends to visit many parts of the old world.

Is ground with terrific force, and was the question that friends of the picked up unconscious. Although young man in this city are asking today, but no one here has a definite answer

Conflicting reports concerning the supposed disappearance of young Fish and the rumored elopment are still in circulation, although it is announced in New York that Fish is in that city_and that Miss Harriman never had any intention of becoming his wife. However, the story that an elopment had taken place grew out of a rush message from Stuyvesant Fish, Sr., in New York city asking railroad officials in Fort Worth to ascertain the whereabouts of his son. Then followed the rumor that his disappearance could be explained by his elopement with Miss Harriman,

Late last night another message saying that his son was neither missing nor married was received over his father's signature, and here the matter stands so far as the friends of young Fish in this city are concerned.

To congratulate him or not to congratulate him is the question with them. They are looking for further details today. Young Fish started out some time ago to learn the railroad business, starting at the very hottom rung of the ladder.
